

CHRISTUS Health Athletic Performance Center

A Refreshed Facility Transformation

Overview

When Christus Health acquired a well-known athletic performance facility in Tyler, Texas, the goal was clear: transform the building into a modern, branded destination that reflected the Christus Health identity while preserving the facility's reputation as a premier training center.

Scope of Work

Federal Heath partnered closely with Christus Health and specialty manufacturing partners to develop customized halo-illuminated letter sets, decorative entrance light bars, and large-format printed graphics that achieved the desired architectural look.

As a turnkey partner, Federal Heath managed every phase of the project, including:

- Landlord approvals and permitting
- Custom sign manufacturing
- Removal of existing signage
- Installation of new illuminated signage
- Professional exterior painting
- Electrical work
- Interior sheetrock modifications
- Coordination of multiple specialty vendors and installation schedules

Project Management

Extensive planning meetings with the client, manufacturers, installers, painters, electricians, and contractors ensured each phase remained aligned despite weather delays and the complexity of coordinating mostly off-hours and weekend work.

Outcome

The project was completed on schedule, allowing the facility's signage to be operational before its grand opening. The completed transformation delivered a fresh, contemporary appearance that elevated the facility while reinforcing the Christus Health brand. From the custom halo-lit signage to the striking architectural enhancements, the project successfully revitalized a once-prominent athletic training center into a modern destination the client is proud to showcase.

Complex projects succeed when collaboration, planning, and creative problem-solving come together. This transformation is a great example of Federal Heath's turnkey approach delivering exceptional results from concept through completion.
